Winter 2021

Parent Teacher Resource Center

Can be found on the second floor, just past the new Picture Books and Easy Readers. Potty training? Feeding issues? Creative play suggestions? We've got you covered. Here are a couple of recent additions.

Toddler 411: Your Toddler 1 to 4 by Ari Brown & Denise Fields. Windsor Peaks Press, 2019.

I still remember the stack of books my wife and I read before our first daughter, Morgan, was born. We thought we were so prepared.... Then she started to walk.... The time for reading and preparing at leisure was gone. We were building the airplane in the air! Toddler 411 is the book we needed. Temper tantrums, toilet training, picky eaters, food allergies, "time out," it's all here in an easy to search format with an entertaining style. The reference section in the back includes an appendix on medications, common lab work and tests, a glossary of terms, growth charts, and tons of links. If a flip through the chapters full of Q & A doesn't land the information you need, the extensive index will.

Overcoming Loss by Julia Sorensen. Jessica Kingsley Publishers, 2008.

A collection of art and play activities and stories for parents and counselors to use with children ages 4 through 8 who are experiencing loss and grief for the first time. Focusing on emotional intelligence and cognitive behavioral therapy with practical and reproducible activities.
